In the very heart of the historic centre of Rome, in an ancient building, apartment on the fourth floor (no lift), which consists of: entrance large kitchen corner (bar-style); dining area with table and chairs; an arch separates the living area from the sleeping area, where the twin beds are (two single beds) and a big bookcase; on the left of the kitchen corner a small corridor leads to the bathroom and to the second bedroom, a single one with little terrace and little desk. A bigger balcony, decorated with plants and flowers, "fun" along the livingroom and bedroom.

The apartment is very charming and cosy; it's been furnished with extreme care: wooden furniture, blue and yellow flowered tapestry; it is extremely clourfull and full of light.

The location is ideal, being away from the the noise, though very close (within walking distance) to the lively Campo dei Fiori. There are many shps, restaurants and grocery stores around.

Being so central, you can walk to all the major sights, monuments and museums.
